

Conductive Education: what it's done for me 2004

BROWN, M. and MIKULA TOTH, A. (1997) Case studies. In Brown, M. and Mikula-Toth, A. Adult Conductive Education. Cheltenham: Stanley Thornes, pp.175-198. (C7)

- ▲ READ, J. (1995) A different outlook. Birmingham: Foundation for Conductive Education. (C25)

READ, J., comp. (1990) Travellers' tales. In Read, J. Conductive Education? Birmingham: Foundation for Conductive Education, pp.13-30.

Parkinson's Disease

ARMISTEAD, L. (1991) Thoughts on having Parkinson's disease. The Conductor, 4(1), pp.3-4.

CHISHOLM, P. (1986) Visit to the Pető Clinic for the treatment of Parkinson's disease. Unpublished paper. (Visit 3)

ESSEX, L. (1988) Some experiences of Conductive Education for the patient with Parkinson's disease. Unpublished paper. (C8)

ESSEX, L. (1985) A report on a course of Conductive Education at the Pető András Institute for the Motor Disordered. 2nd draft. Unpublished paper. (Visit 3)

HUDSON, J. (2000) In control after 20 years with Parkinson's. Birmingham Post, 6 September, p11.

JONES, A. (1994) Fighting back. Birmingham Evening Mail, 25 January, pp.18-19.

MARSTON, M. (1995) Conductive Education. Yapmag, Summer, p20.

RAYNER, P. (1990) A visit to the Pető Institute. Unpublished paper. (Visit 3)

- ▲ SMITH, A. (1997) Moving to a different rhythm: Conductive Education; disabled adults transforming their experience of living with impairment. Unpublished thesis. (C7)

TWEED, B. (1995) Conductive Education for me. The Parkinson, no.95, p19.

WILKINSON, J. (1985) Conductive Education. Unpublished paper. (Visit 3)

WILLIAMS, J. (1989) Conductive Education and Parkinson's disease. The Conductor, 2(1), pp.12-13.

WILLIAMS, J. (1989) Conductive Education and Parkinson's disease. Part Two. The Conductor, 2(2), pp.46-47.

Stroke

CHRISTIE, J. (1987) A stroke victim's report. IFVHSF Newsletter, no.15, pp.8-9. (Visit 3)

Multiple sclerosis

CORNELL, S. (2001) How Conductive Education changed my life. New Pathways, July/August, pp.24-25. (C10)

READ, J. (1993) Conductive Education and multiple sclerosis; a new development at the Birmingham Institute. The Conductor, 5(2), pp.23-26

SAMUELSON, M. (2003) Conductive Education. New Pathways, May/June, pp.26-28.

Cerebral palsy

GUYATT, J. (1998) Learning to live again. Yours, May, p69.

HIDVÉGI, K. (1999) The Institute. In Forrai, J. Memoirs of the beginnings of conductive pedagogy and András Pető. Budapest: Új Aranyhíd and the Foundation for Conductive Education, pp.41-44, 58-59, 137-143. (C1)

LLEWELLYN, A. (2003) Elliot, an Arts student talks to... Special Children, January, pp.38-39.

McDOWELL, G. (1987) An experience I will never forget. Unpublished paper. (Visit 5)

O'HARE, S. (1990) Report of visit to Pető Institute. The Conductor, 3(3), pp.49-50.

SAVAGE, J. (1986) Memories of Budapest. Special Children, 1(1), p12.

ZEMPLÉNY, Z. (1987) Hoppárézimi! Agytakarítás. Budapest: Mecenas, pp.92-93.

